GERMANY'S BIG BUSINESS NOW TRIES TO BALK ALLIES

Using Bankruptcy Cry As Threat, Charge

THE MARK RISES

"Times" Demands Payment Of Reparations

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 10.—The German mark rallied slightly today and closed at 2285 as compared with 2450 on Saturday.

The Times, commenting on the situation says that the real forces of Germany are represented by the industrial group which is concentrating its hands to control German wealth, and, by investing its profits in foreign securities, evading Allied control, using as a threat German bankruptcy and the sufferings of the masses of German people as the means of escaping the demand for legitimate reparations. The Allies must investigate the situation with extreme care without permitting themselves to yield at an instant to panic which recent events may have been largely designed to create.

A subtle campaign both in England and France was recently carried on with the object of absolving Germany from the guilt of the war by transferring it to the principal Allies. Unless all such attempts to whitewash Germany are emphatically repudiated the discussion of reparations problems will only lead to fresh danger.

Germany's capacity to pay must be thoroughly and objectively estimated. The method of payment must be determined to its advantage of all. Once some methods are finally established the strictest measures must be taken to compel those who control German wealth to pay the reparation liabilities to the full extent. The problem must be solved by unwearying enforcement of irrefutable principles of Justice.

W. G. Wallace, said to be manager of the World Insurance Underwriting Company with offices at 8 Kiangse Road, who was arrested Monday night on a charge of obtaining goods by false pretenses, has been refused recognition as an American citizen by the American consulate and is being held at Central Police station pending receipt of information from Tientsin in connection with his case.

The charge upon which Wallace was arrested is made in a warrant issued in Tientsin where it is alleged he obtained goods valued at $588 by false pretenses from Joseph Leibovich.

Wallace was allowed his freedom on $600 bail, but in the Mixed Court before Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Tsang yesterday was ordered held in custody until more information is received from Tientsin, after the United States Consulate-General had refused him recognition as an American citizen.

AMERICAN FIRES BULLET THROUGH BODY AND LIVES

George B. Clayton Shoots Self While In Automobile On Nanking Road

Motives that led George B. Clayton, an American, to fire a bullet into his breast while riding in an automobile on Nanking Road early yesterday morning may not be disclosed until he is called to answer a charge of attempting suicide in the court of U. S. Commissioner N. E. Lurton. Though the bullet fired from a 32 calibre automatic pistol passed entirely through the man's body he was conscious when he was taken to the Shanghai General Hospital and it was said last night that he had every chance to recover.

Clayton, according to report, until two months ago was employed in the Chinese Maritime Customs and recently he has been residing in a Russian boarding house at 18 Range Road. It was learned yesterday that he rented an automobile shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday morning at Johnson's Garage on Wuchang Road. He ordered the chauffeur to drive to a cafe in Jessfield near the corner of Jessfield and Brennan Roads and there he was joined by two foreigners, a man and a woman.

The chauffeur told the police that when the trio left the cafe Clyton ordered the car taken to an address on Avenue Joffre where the woman alighted. Clayton then took the man to an address on Broadway. Clayton had prepaid the car's rental for an hour and as the time was up the chauffeur drove back to the garage where Clayton said he wished to retain the car for a time, signing for payment. He then ordered the chauffeur to drive out Nanking Road just as day was breaking and it was when the car was near the Town Hall and almost opposite Louza Station that the driver heard a report which at first he thought came from a bursting tire.

"I'm sorry I didn't aim just a little lower," he told the detective. When the wound was examined at the hospital it was found that the bullet had entered the left breast near the arm pit and without touching the heart had passed entirely through the man's body. Later it was found embedded in the upholstery of the seat of the car.

In connection with the inquiry that was conducted yesterday by the authorities a letter Clayton is said to have written was brought to light. As Clayton's effort to kill himself failed the nature of the communication he wrote as his final message is not being disclosed but may be presented when he is called to answer charges in the American Court. Clayton is about 27 years of age and has been living in Shanghai about two years. His home is in New York and it is said he has relatives at Preston, Maryland.

RUSS INSIST UPON CREDITS, REPUDIATE CZAR'S BONDS

Demand Loans Must Be Made To Soviet State

PLAIN SPEAKING

Agreements Concluded With Outsiders, Says Litvinoff

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, July 10.—There was much plain speaking at the meeting of the Credits sub-commission today. The Russians finally, in reply to a direct question, insisted that they wanted credits granted to the Russian State and not to individuals.

They refused to recognise the guarantee inscribed on the face of bonds issued by former Russian Governments.

The discussion was in the nature of a general clearing up and elicited from M. Litvinoff the statement that several agreements were practically concluded with foreign companies for concessions in agricultural land, in one case for 100,000 hectares.

The Soviets intended to concede a total of 4,000,000 hectares.

Mr. Litvinoff further explained a transport program, for which he was anxious to attract capital including 15,000 versts of new railways.

The outlook for the week is unsatisfactory. The principal delegates spent the week-end examining the list of properties, which the Russians are prepared to restore. The delegates agreed that the list was unsatisfactory, as it included only ten percent of the total.

It is now explained that M. Krassin's statement that 90 percent of the properties of foreigners would eventually be returned is conditional on the conclusion of an agreement with the Soviet with regard to credits and is dependent on direct individual negotiations between the ex-owners and the Soviet.

The condition is regarded by the non-Russian delegates as inacceptable as it simply means that the owners would be left to the tender mercies of the Soviet.

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, July 3.—The chairman of the Italian delegation at The Hague in an interview stated that though Russia could not supply foreign countries with her goods for a long time Italy's opinion was that the resumption of economic relations with Russia was the only means of involving Russia in European affairs.

OFFICIALS PLAN TO STOP RISING OF RICE PRICES

Best quality rice advanced ten cents per picul to $14.80 on the local market yesterday reaching a high point for the year. At the same time a drop of twenty cents per picul was registered in inferior grades, the ordinary variety selling at $12.60.

The rising rice price came just as the Chinese authorities in the Chinese City opened a cheap rice sale depot under the supervision of Magistrate Shen Pao-shang and the City Chamber of Commerce. Foreign rice is being sold at cost price to the poor and it is understood that 20,000 piculs are now on hand and more has been contracted for.

Agitation against the increasing rice prices, which has been sporadic for some time, was centered yesterday in the announcement that General Ho Feng-lin, Defence Commissioner of Shanghai and Sungkiang, had issued orders threatening dire punishment to any rice dealers who hoarded their supply hoping to sell at a big price, or who were caught profiteering at the expense of the poor.

The rice exportation may also be stopped. Rice Guild also called a meeting of all rice merchants to be held today at 2 o'clock when the entire question of the rice market will be gone into thoroughly. The highest price at which rice has sold in Shanghai was $17 per picul during the rice riots in 1920.

GEN. LU AIMS AT DEFEAT OF PEKING, NEW ACCUSATION

Has Increased His Army To 30,000, Charge

Wu Pei-fu Eager To Lead New Expedition

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 11.—Disquieting reports from the South indicate that notwithstanding the apparent acquiescence to the Government's plans to abolish Tuchunships and reduce the army, General Lu Yung-hsiang since resigning the Tuchunship of Chekiang has increased his forces from 10,000 to 20,000 men. It is stated that he is also organising a political clique evidently with the object to defeating Peking's efforts to assemble a quorum of the Old Parliament and establish a legitimate and effective central administration.

It is predicted that Dr. Sun Yat-sen will be invited to come to Chekiang as the figurehead of the movement and create a new Southern confederacy with General Lu Yung-hsiang playing an important role in it. It has been commented, however, that in the present chaotic state of the Southern Provinces, it would be most difficult for such a scheme to bear fruit.

Meanwhile, it is reported that at a conference of General Chen Chiung-ming with the representative of General Wu Pei-fu it was suggested that an attack should be launched against Dr. Sun Yat-sen's troops in Klangsi as a step toward eliminating Dr. Sun Yat-sen's influence from China. It is stated that General Wu Pei-fu is anxious personally to conduct this operation.

"Freedom From Intervention Our Big Job," Yanson

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, June 28.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Yanson, in an interview explaining future problems, says that the outstanding problem of the working people of the Far Eastern Republic is emancipation from foreign intervention. "Without this emancipation our country's revival is impossible," emphasises Mr. Yanson. "I think that as long as intervention continues, no trade and commercial intercourse with Japanese capital can be admitted."

Mr. Yanson further states that the Russian Far East can easily be converted into a foreign colony even under peaceful conditions. "Therefore the solution of the problem of admitting foreign capital requires maximum vigilance and strict control. To counterpoise the aims of foreign capital for economic conquest of the Far East, it is necessary to develop state enterprises and economic organisations to be controlled by the laborers. This task of the Far Eastern Republic can be effected only by a closer economic and political alliance with Soviet Russia and her economic organisations."

How long they will be here is not known. Each carries a crew of 100 men. The U. S. S. Isabel, flagship of the American Yangtsze patrol, will go into drydock for three weeks on Thursday.

MISSES Laura, Louisa and Lillian Buisset, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buisset, of Punxsutawney, Pa., are members of the graduating class, 1922, of the Punxsutawney High School and are believed to be the only triplets in America graduating from the same class at the same time. They have dressed alike since childhood, but no matter how badly their clothes may be mixed up at night they could always pick out their own garments in the morning.

"Drink Ruined Me," Says A. L. Carp, The Poor Fish

By Irene Corbally

Mr. Al Lejd Carp, breathing his last on the floor of his captor's study early Tuesday, made a final statement to the press.

"The story that was published about me in THE CHINA PRESS was true in many respects but in all," said the former giant ruler of the Hongkew Park Lagoon.

"It was stated for one thing by Mr. Parkes that I am a carp. I am not entirely carp," said the big fish who, even as he spoke was being initiated into the order of The Big Fish of History, an association of which the whale in which Jonah spent his vacation is the honorary president. In the membership of this association are all the big fish, caught and claimed to be caught, by all disciples of Izaak Walton who have gone before or have come since. To be admitted to membership it is only necessary to have had some publicity before death and to have attained a pretty fair size, either naturally or via the easier way, through the imaginative recital of the fisherman.

OF MIXED LINEAGE

"My antecedents are somewhat mixed," said the big fish. "I am of the impression that my grandmother, a member of the Cyprinidae family, was a carp of the new school. She sent her eldest daughter—my mother—to an advanced college for pisciculture. It was while there that my mother met my father, then a very young but ambitious whale.

"They were married and came south to Shanghai. For many years they lived in the sea near here until my father died. My mother then, with her little brood, disliking society, moved into the Hongkew Park Lagoon. I was the eldest and big for my age even then. In the Lagoon we enjoyed the quiet life and when my mother died, although we were grief-stricken, we decided not to migrate again.

"The Lagoon has always agreed with me. I have just lived comfortably and happily, busy at my work and growing all the time. I have always been proud of my dimensions and practised practical calisthenics every morning to increase my girth and keep my scales smooth and shining.

THE PERILS OF DRINK

"Mr. Parkes, being a boxing instructor, naturally claims full credit for the battle in which he emerged, finally, as victor. That makes me laugh. I am saying now that neither Mr. Parkes who is a fine fisherman at that, nor anyone else would have caught me, if I had obeyed my mother's injunctions not to drink."

Here the dying whale-carp levelled a fishy accusing eye, slightly filmed with the glaze of approaching death, at Mr. Parkes, standing triumphantly over him and puffing victoriously at his pipe, now fully lighted.

"There was dough on the end of the hook with which you bribed me," said the fish. "And there was something in the dough! Ask him," exclaimed the fish, his gills palpitating with the effort he was making to speak, as he pointed a quivering fin at Mr. Parkes.

The fisherman started perceptibly. Yes, he admitted there was something in the dough. What it was he would not divulge. Neither would the fish, shame for his weakness probably sealing his mouth at the end.

"It was a great fight at that," said Al Lejd. "For two hours we struggled, as Mr. Parkes has narrated, and if I could have resisted longer the stupefying effects of what was inside the dough I would not now be waving my fin good-bye to the pleasures of this life while the Royal Asiatic Society attendants are waiting outside with their stuffing materials, ready to make me a permanent exhibit, not to say example, after my last gasp."

NARY A WORD

The noble denizen of the deep never said another word. And the Royal Asiatic cleaners and stuffers came in directly afterward for Mr. Parkes had declared when he landed his trophy that since it was the biggest fish ever caught in Shanghai, he would present it to the Museum. He has made good on his promise and the finny scion of a noble race whose picture adorns this page elsewhere, as permanent proof of Mr. Parkes' veracity, will soon be on view, the whole three feet nine inches and two feet thick of him, at the Museum's headquarters.

P. S.—For the benefit of the odd two thousand anglers who swarmed to the banks of the Hongkew lagoon yesterday with their fishing tackle in the hope of getting Al's twin, he confided to me before he departed for the fish section of Conan's Doyle's happy hunting grounds, that there aren't any more at home—meaning Hongkew—like him. Try Jessfield.

BRITISH AND U. S. VESSELS SAVED CANTON FROM ATTACK

Strong Warning Sent To Dr. Sun Yat-sen's Officers

SHIPS CLEARED

English Steamer Fired Upon From Forts

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 10.—It is reported here that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has left for sea on a cruiser, accompanied by two other cruisers. His destination is unknown but it is believed to be Shanghai.

Canton, July 11.—With his little fleet of gunboats anchored off Shameen, Dr. Sun Yat-sen was practically bottled up and probably out of harm's way. How he came to be placed in this unenviable position is thus explained. At 2 in the afternoon of Sunday, General Chen Chiung-ming's troops took the Whampoa Forts whereupon Dr. Sun Yat-sen, finding his position with the Navy untenable, resolved to reach Canton which he successfully did on the morning of July 10.

As soon as it was learned that Dr. Sun Yat-sen intended to go to Canton from Whampoa, a battery of four-inch guns under General Chen Chiung-ming's soldiers was placed near the Macao Fort with the object of commanding "the back reach." Dr. Sun Yat-sen's only chance of escape was to attempt to run the gauntlet with the fleet. When the latter approached Canton the fort battery endeavored to get into action with the object of sinking Dr. Sun Yat-sen's fleet.

The attempt proved futile. Dr. Sun Yat-sen's ships were hardly discernible with the result that the fleet negotiated the Macao fort successfully with very few casualties. It has been reported that nine were killed and one wounded, all the casualties occurring on board one of Dr. Sun Yat-sen's torpedo boats. Early yesterday morning Dr. Sun Yat-sen's escaped fleet dropped anchor off the Shameen Bund on the Fati side where they remain near the foreign river gunboats in comparative immunity from attack by General Chen Chiung-ming's troops.

With a view to preventing the Chinese Fleet from firing over Shameen to Canton, the Chinese Commander was informed that strong action would be taken in the event of any shot being fired from his warships. Meanwhile the H. M. S. Moth and H.M.S. Tarantula and the American gunboat, 214, were cleared for action. The same morning the Chinese flagship was ordered to leave its anchorage which Dr. Sun Yat-sen refused to comply. Later an important conference of the leading Britishers was held at Shameen at which the situation was discussed, the result of which Dr. Sun Yat-sen's fleet decided to remain in its then position and undertook not to open fire if they remained unattacked by General Chen Chiung-ming. On the other hand if attacked, Dr. Sun Yat-sen would fire in self-defence. A stale mate was thus created.

The British steamer, Hoisang, from Canton to Hongkong, last night when passing through the Collinson Reach was fired on by the Whampoa forts. A shell dropped a hundred yards short of the ship. The Captain ran up the British flag when the firing ceased. There was considerable alarm amongst the Chinese passengers. The Hoisang continued the voyage without further incident.

The report that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has fled from Canton on board a Japanese steamer is without foundation.

Peking, July 11.—Today's Consular telegrams from Canton show that yesterday's telegram was inaccurate regarding the movements of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, who, instead of going to sea, moved five Chinese warships up river and anchoring in front of Shameen where they are protected from shelling by the danger which such bombardment will create to the foreign settlements. Dr. Sun Yat-sen still claims the Presidency and has again announced that he is ready to die for right.

RUSSIAN SLAYER WHO SHOT SELF IS STILL ALIVE

Man With Bullet Wound In His Brain Now Has Chance For Recovery

Michael Sadovnikoff who fired a bullet through his brain after killing Mrs. Anna Avierkieva in a Broadway millinery shop last Saturday morning was still alive last night at the Shanghai General Hospital where he has been under treatment since the shooting and some little chance now exists that he may recover.

Sadnikoff has been conscious at intervals and statements he has made bear out what he wrote in the note found in his pocket after the shooting. In this he said he intended to shoot the woman and kill himself because she had turned away from him. In the event of his recovery he will be called to answer a charge of murder in the Mixed Court.

Washington Told Of Japan's Promise To Quit Siberia

(Dalta News Agency)

Washington, July 5.—The American Ambassador in Japan has wired to his Government about the Japanese Government's official declaration regarding the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Maritime Province before the end of October. The American Government welcomes the nomination of a fixed date for evacuation, hoping that the withdrawal of troops will augment America's assurance in the sincerity of Japanese declarations of her intention to live on good terms with other countries and of the cessation of an aggressive policy. Washington's attention is drawn to the fact that Japan is silent as to the evacuation of Sakhalin and Nikolaevsk. The American Government expresses its expectation that they will be evacuated also.

The New York Times in an editorial remarks that this is the first time that Japan announces openly the exact date of evacuation of these districts, the signing of a treaty between the Far Eastern Republic and Japan is impossible.

Chita, July 6.—Commenting on the Japanese Government's decision to evacuate Siberia, the Far Eastern Telegraph writes: "It is clear that this gesture of the Japanese Cabinet is calculated to produce a soothing effect on the growing demand for evacuation, both by the internal and external political situations. As before we have a cunning enemy armed to the teeth. As before we will insist on one condition: evacuation first and agreement afterwards. Without fulfilment of this condition Japan will be not an equal party with Russia, but a commanding party dictating her demands. The Japanese, Americans and Europeans rejoice in Kato's new move. We do not follow them since during the four years of Japanese intervention we have learned practical politics. Japanese militarists' words and promises have lost all value. We remain in our old positions."

Harbin, July 6.—Certain foreign circles are inclined to think that the report of coming withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Maritime Province foreshadows a fresh adventure of Russian reactionaries. As history shows, shrewd Japanese diplomats always spread rumors of evacuation whenever preparations for a new adventure were under way. This belief is strengthened by information from reliable sources to the effect that Semenoff has arrived at Shanghai and is going to Vladivostok. General Lohvitsky, an agent of Merkulov and monarchist organisations, who was sent to Europe in the beginning of this year with a special secret mission to the monarchists in Europe, is expected in the East very soon, provided with broad mandates from the monarchists organisations.

The resolution further demands immediate recognition of the Soviet Government and urges the Japanese Government to withdraw its troops from Siberia. The resolution also urges socialist and labor parties of all countries to take common steps for opposing war.

Vienna, July 11.—Gerard Bevan, the former manager of Company, who was arrested here Company, who was arrsted here on June 17, interviewed by Reuter's correspondent said that he left England on February 8 solely at the request of his wife who had information of the warrant issued for his arrest on February 9 and who implored him to spare her the disgrace.

It was against his principles and the practice of his whole life to run away from trouble. He also knew that flight would prejudice him in the eyes of the public. He therefore departed much against his own judgment with only £250. He was anxious to come to grips with the grave charges and am convinced that nothing dishonorable would be proved. The alleged falsification of the balance sheets was the ordinary window-dressing of the operation.

Moscow Paper Sees U. S. Designs

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, July 4.—The Investia says that America jealously watched Genoa, fearing that the Europeans might escape American influence. America fears Russian economic regeneration will produce a dangerous competitor in raw materials, and if America should agree to participate in Russian economic reconstruction she will seek absolute control and the lion's share. American participation at the Hague will increase Russia's chances of obtaining economic aid, but also it will make united capitalist pressure on Russia stronger.

Genoa has ended in a compromise. Everybody now sees that the so-called Russian question is one of economically subjugating Russia, against which Russia will fight. Genoa closed without having solved a single cardinal problem, either of European reconstruction, disarmament, universal peace, or the settlement of territorial controversies.

Yet Russia derived a certain benefit by reappearing upon the international arena and gaining a prominent place of authority and influence at Genoa. Soviet Russia, practically gained recognition, Russia also concluded the treaty with Germany, which may be followed by other separate treaties. Russia can, therefore, contemplate the future with confidence, Russia needs economic aid, but the bourgeois states no less need Russia economically and politically.

104 MORE SOLONS ARE OPPOSED TO OLD PARLIAMENT

Local opponents to the reconvocation of Parliament in Peking, who had been organising the Society for the Maintenance of the Legal President, received yesterday a telegram signed by 104 members of the Old Parliament who are in Peking, endorsing the attitude of the Shanghai opponents.

The move is significant in view of the fact that the alienation of 104 members of the Legislature would prevent it from securing a quorum in Peking for the purpose of reconvocation. The old Parliament had planned to meet formally on August 1.

Noted Guests At Luncheon For Sze

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 11.—Earl Balfour, Sir Auckland Geddes, the Japanese Ambassador and Sir Charles Addis were among the imposing list of guests at a luncheon given yesterday by Mr. Chu Chao-hsin, the Chinese Charge d'Affaires, in honor of Mr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese Minister to the United States.

Speaking subsequently at an International Scholarship dinner at the Lyceum Club, Mr. Chu Chao-hsin reiterated the necessity for increasing facilities for Chinese students to come to Britain. He pointed out that America had 2,500 Chinese students as compared with Britain's 250 and declared that the Chinese were particularly interested in the suggestion that Britain should earmark certain sums of money, over which they had control but which came from the Far East, for the purpose of supporting Chinese students. Mr. Chu applauded the Club's decision to give a scholarship to a Chinese student in the coming year as the sort of encouragement which would do much to bind still closer the links of Anglo-Chinese trade, commerce, science, learning and good feeling.

Anti-North Forces After Scalp Of Chen Chiung-ming

According to a telegram received by the Kuo Wen News Agency last night, the troops of General Hsu Chung-chi which participated in the Anti-Northern Expedition, have captured Shaokwan. Canton is threatened and communications between the Kwangtung capital and Shihlung have been cut.

The Navy has steamed into Pehlungtan and commenced bombarding Tungtai on Sunday.

Another telegram received by local Kuomingtang adherents stated that naval forces are conducting the operations under the personal command of Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Changchow has been evacuated by Dr. Sun's troops, because the latter is needed for the offensive against Canton. No fighting has taken place in Changchow at all.

The troops of General Chen Chiung-ming are being bottled up with little hope of any reinforcement.

Mexicans Unite To Do Honor To Gen. Terrazas

(China Press Service)

Chihuahua City, Mexico, June 21.—Cards, letters and telegrams from many places in the United States and Mexico were received here today by Gen. Luis Terrazas, tokens of esteem, and greetings on this day, his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary.

Congratulations did not come by mail and wire alone, hundreds of persons greeted him face to face today. Many among them were Mexicans who had known the aged general all their lives.

A penniless orphan when ten years old, Gen. Terrazas first learned the value of hard work. Then he became a soldier, an officer in the army, a general, governor of Mexico's largest state, a Mexican patriot and statesman, a multi-millionaire.

He is spending his 94th birthday anniversary in the city of his birth, having been an exile for seven years, but who since has been welcomed back to his native land.

EXILE SEVEN YEARS

Since 1920 he has been living here in his old palatial mansion. He still daily conducts a little business at least. He still maintains an office, and goes to and from home daily. During the seven years of his exile he lived in El Paso, Texas, and Los Angeles. He was driven out by Villa's army, after the death of one of his sons, who was captured by Villa, and held in prison until he died from exposure. His exile began in 1913, and in 1920, President Obregon welcomed him back to Mexico.

The general's first notable exploit was in 1866 when he led a force of Mexicans against Chihuahua City, which was then held by the French under Maximillian. Although greatly outnumbered, Terrazas's men took the city, and turned the tide in the revolution against the French invaders which was under way in Chihuahua by Benito Juarez.

Before this time, however, he had made a success a soldier, and as chief of police of Chihuahua City. His first business success, was managing butcher shops here. After service as police chief, he became mayor, and then was elected governor. For years his candidacy, if such it could be called, was never opposed.

LARGE LANDOWNER

Section after section of land became his after he and his followers had settled on it undisputed. Many grants were given to him by the government. At times he owned more than half the state of Chihuahua, and on a railroad train a person could travel day and night and never get entirely across his lands. His estate was estimated at various times between 1,000,000 and 70,000,000 acres, but it is a fact that he owned and controlled for years 7,000,000 on which there were thousands of horses, cows and sheep. At that time he was the largest land owner in the world, his friends declared, and his wealth was estimated at $200,000,000.

Villa's men did inestimable damage to the general's estate. Terrazas lost houses, land and thousands of head of stock. His followers were killed, and all he possessed and controlled was thrown into confusion by the Villistas and the bandits which followed Villa from 1910 to 1920.

When he returned in 1920, he found that his estate, long left idle, has been confiscated, or appropriated under the agrarian laws. The expropriation of his estate is still pending, and if the government carries out its decree he will lose practically all he has, except his palatial homestead.

As far as can be learned, Gen. Terrazas is the sole survivor of the battle of Chihuahua City, famous in the annals of Mexican history.

Gen. Terrazas had 12 children and most of them are living. His wife died in Los Angeles in 1919 at the age of 86.

The general declares he will live to be 100. He prays, he said, to outlive his arch enemy, Francisco Villa, so in the next world he can "rebuke him for his sins." Villa is not 50 yet, and is much stronger than Terrazas.

Sleeping By Compass

North, south, east or west? In which direction should one's head point when lying asleep? Some religions enjoin the east; some scientists have urged the north, corresponding with the pointing of the magnetic compass; while there are those, probably the great majority, who regard it as a matter of indifference.

The eminent French physician, Dr. Cabanes, after much study and consideration, discusses the question elaborately in the "Chronique Medicale." He reminds us that according to an old tradition which obtained among the ancient Israelites, the direction north-south is preferable. From north to south runs also the direction of the great magnetic currents of the earth. But this the people of Israel could not have known.

In 1845 Professor Reichenbach published an essay in which he called special attention to the diseases of those who slept headed toward the east. The best position in sleeping was from north to south, with the head toward the north. Further observations have, however, not resulted in any proof for the supposition that the north-south direction was particularly wholesome in sleeping. The only thing that seems established is that some people sleep better in one direction than in the other.

HUNAN TUCHUN HAS SCHEME FOR RE-UNIFICATION

"Centralised Government And Also States," Is His Proposal

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 6.—General Chao Heng-ti, Tuchun of Hunan, in a telegram to both Houses of Parliament, expressed the hope for reunification along the lines of a union of states and not an all powerful central government. In his telegram he says:

"That law cannot be eternally abolished is made very plain by the re-establishment of the Parliament and the re-assumption of office by President Li Yuan-hung. However, I consider that the causes of peace or its opposite are dependent upon popular tendency and I would like to make my views plain to the country.

"Militarism has been the cause of the difficulties with the Republic. The telegram of President Li calling for disbandment of superfluous troops and abolition of the tuchunate, and also that of Dr. Sun suggesting the conversion of troops into labor gangs, were very good, but the way to permanent peace for the entire country is through a union of states.

"There are the two systems of government, centralised as in Japan and France, and the American and German idea of states. China began with the former which is not suitable for this country. However, we have had provinces for so long, that if they are changed into different divisions now, it will be like cutting one's feet to fit the shoes.

"Consequently the best way is to have a centralised government as well as states. The first task of the Parliament will be to draft a a constitution. In doing this they should give every province self government by means of a constitution similar to the national document. With such a firm foundation, troubles of the future will be settled as easily as the splitting of bamboo.

"At the present time there are many people who, misunderstanding this principle of government, use it as a double-edged tool. Therefore, it would give me great pleasure if the plan were understood by all the provinces and taken into consideration by the central government.

"The Hunan constitution has already been drawn up. Outstanding in it are the features of troop disbandment, abolition of the tuchunate and a strong emphasis on education and industry. Also it is clearly expressed that the rights of the Province of Hunan will not overstep those of the National Constitution. This plea is not made to protect Hunan itself, but that the whole country may take up the idea. I do not approve of reunification at random but ask for a permanent and firm foundation, and that all the powers in the country will work to that end."

Wants Britishers To Man British Ships

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 11.—In the House of Commons last night Sir J. F. Flannery asked the Government to introduce legislation to prevent ships sailing under the British flag unless officered and manned by British subjects in view of the number of such vessels, owned and manned by foreigners and insured by British underwriters, which have recently been lost in circumstances suggesting scuttling and stranding. Mr. Baldwin, the President of the Board of Trade, said that he had read reports of such cases but insistence on complete British manning would drive vessels from the British register and thus would not be to the national advantage.

Christiania, July 11.—The Norwegian Mercantile Marine on July 1 totalled 2,500,000 tons, which is 2 percent above the pre-war total.

London, July 10.—In the House of Commons today, replying to a question with regard to the American Shipping Bill, whereby, inter alia, fifty percent of the total immigration into the United States is reserved to American vessels, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that the Government was considering the effect on British shipping and was consulting the Departments concerned with regard to the steps which would be necessary if the Bill were passed.

Cabinet Discusses National Budget

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 8.—The Minister of Finance brought up the discussion of the preparation of a national budget at today's Cabinet meeting. He urged that all possible steps be taken to hasten this, but until that can be done, he proposes a temporary measure in the form of an average expenditure covering a period of eight years of the life of the Republic. Using this average of past expenditures he would limit the expenses of the present administration thereby.

From financial sources it is reported that the Cabinet today considered Tung Kang's proposal for the floating of a loan of $600,000 with the Chinese bankers. This is to be a temporary loan and the proceeds will be used for immediate administrative expenses. One source is responsible for the statement that $250,000 of the money will go to Paoting.

Your Health Comes First
Good Health is your most valuable asset;—its preservation should, therefore, receive your most careful consideration. An important point which should always be borne in mind is the fact that a great many forms of ill-health can be traced, directly or indirectly, to disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is wise, therefore, to keep these organs in healthy activity. When they show any signs of derangement let that reliable medicine, Beecham's Pills, be taken at once. Always deal with digestive ailments in time. They are far-reaching in their possibilities of mischief if neglected, as they too often are. Shanghai To Play Team From Gunboat Today At 5

Japanese Promoter Wants Locals To Make Tour Of Nippon

BY WESTA

Manager Holby Gallop, of the Shanghai Baseball team, who is perhaps the most reticent and bashful bird in this end of Asia and who seldom, if ever, talks for publication, yielded last night to persistent requests for an interview. He would not be coaxed out of his customary seclusion, however, until he had fully assured himself that the matter upon which his opinion was sought was of grave and pressing public interest, and even then he was extremely reluctant to talk, consenting only after he had exacted an iron clad promise that he would not be directly quoted.

With the groundwork for the interview thus cleared Mr. Gallop was asked if there would be a baseball game today.

His answer was in the affirmative.

He was then asked if the opposition would be supplied by the team from the gunboat Isabel, as tentatively announced.

Mr. Gallop replied, in effect, that arrangements had been completed for a contest with that outfit.

The next question was: "Will the game start at 5 p.m.?"

Holby consented to have the public informed, on his authority, that the contest would begin at approximately that hour.

Inasmuch as there have been certain rumors that the Isabel might leave town today he was asked if, in that event, a game would be arranged with one of the two destroyer teams that are now in port, for the same hour.

Mr. Gallop cogitated several minutes, turning this question over in his mind, speculating upon the tremendous import of his reply, and finally, in a voice that quavered with emotion, he answered that it would be safe to inform the public that this would be done.

The manager was then asked who would pitch for Shanghai, but as this was touching upon a matter beyond the limitations originally agreed upon for the interview he declined to answer, at the same time intimating that the interview was nearing an end.

The interview was then terminated.

"The Shanghai baseball team has a tentative invitation to play a series of games in Japan in September," said Manager Holby Gallop, yesterday, in the course of a fanning bee at the Recreation Field. "As yet nothing definite has been done with regard to this, as we will have to find out, first, whether the members of our team can get away from their work long enough to make the trip.

"I have spoken to practically all the boys about it and from present indications our chances of getting a team together are altogether favorable. Some of the players—probably a half dozen—have assured me that they could get away without difficulty. Three or four are unable to give definite answers at this time, explaining that they will have to be guided by the exigencies of their business affairs. And one or two of the regulars say that from the present outlook they will be unable to get away.

"September, however, is quite a bit removed, and in another month we hope that all the regulars will find their business affairs in such shape as to make it possible for them to go. As nearly as we can figure it now, the trip would extend over about three weeks, possibly a few days less if we can make good boat connections.

"The invitation to visit Japan comes from a well known and responsible promoter, who assures me that the Shanghai team would be a good drawing card in the larger Nipponese cities. The promoter says that baseball has a tremendous hold on the Japanese public, and that the chief trouble over there is the lack of strong opposition, which, of course, is our main difficulty here in Shanghai. His idea is to have us play a number of the strong college and semi-professional outfits in Nagasaki, Kobe, Osaka, Yokohama and Tokio, although the schedule could be shortened by omitting the two latter cities if the Shanghai boys find themselves unable to stay away from their homes and businesses that long.

"Personally, I am in hopes that those American business firms in Shanghai by whom our players are employed will make every effort to let them get away for the little time that such a trip would require. It will be recalled that British cricket, polo, football and golf teams come to Shanghai from other cities every year, and if British firms are willing to let their men off for such trips as these I think our American firms ought to be willing to do the same. Such a trip by our boys would be a fine advertisement for Shanghai."

Thatch, the Shanghai second sacker, is filling a gap that has existed in the local infield for several seasons, which accounts largely for the superior brand of baseball the team as a whole is showing this year. One bad spot in an infield, like one bad apple in a barrel, has a contaminating effect, and with the long standing leak at the keystone corner plugged up there is a snap and confidence about the team that was lacking last year and the year before.

The Thatch is a fine fielder and thrower, and in addition to these qualities he has the true infielder's trick of getting the ball away quickly after a stop. He also can peg while off balance, which is a prime essential for second base play, particularly on balls hit to the right or left. Like Bills, he is sure on balls thrown to the base to nip stealers, and if the team had a hard throwing catcher we would see some fine work around the middle bag as both The Thatch and Bills are quick as cats, and heady ball tossers as well. At bat the little fellow is good and getting better all the time. He stands up to the plate well, and steps into the ball as a hitter should. Once on the bases he is fast, daring and resourceful, and in the time he has been with the team he has not made a single mistake in judgment on the paths that the writer recalls.

Withal, The Thatch is a quiet, modest chap, liked and admired both by his mates and the spectators. It surely was a lucky day for us when he blew into town.

Shanghai baseball fans certainly are getting their money's worth this year. So far the management has been lucky in having good opposition, and with the flagship Huron returning for an indefinite stay there is assurance that there will be more good games before the season ends. In addition to the Huron it is certain that other warships will make this port from time to time, and as all the ships have baseball teams there is not likely to be a dearth of games.

The Thirty-seventh Destroyer Division, now at Chefoo for summer target practice, is returning to the States shortly by way of Manila, and while there are no definite promises of a stop here it is more than likely that the Thirty-seventh will be seen in action again at the racetrack late this month or early in August.

In view of the abundance of sailor teams, coming or in prospect, Manager Gallop has not done anything in the way of seeking games with the soldier teams at Tientsin and Peking. Bringing these teams here is an expensive undertaking, and as long as there is opposition from other quarters the manager figures he can serve the fans to greater advantage by saving the money.

Mr. Gallop's pet idea ever since he became identified with the club as manager has been to create a sinking fund, and to build this up gradually against the time when teams will have to be imported. The manager also is anxious to see the club in possession of better stands, and has even expressed the hope that some day in the not distant future the club may own sectional steel grandstands. The present wooden stands, now that they are getting old and worn, mean an outlay of five or six hundred dollars every year for repairs.

OLYMPIC PRELIMS WILL BE STAGED IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, July 10.—International games in Los Angeles in 1923 to serve as preliminaries to the Paris 1924 Olympic games have been approved by the international Olympic committee.

William Garland, Los Angeles, American delegate to the session, asked for official recognition of an international meet for the California city after it had been decided to allow Paris to stage the next Olympic games.

Garland outlined the plans which had been made by Los Angeles for the games and said the city would be willing to do the same thing for an international meet in 1923 that could pave the way for the big games.

It was enthusiastically cheered by the delegates and was given a vote of approval.

After the international body had decided that Paris was well fixed to stage the 1924 games, a controversy arose over the selection of a site for the 1928 games.

Los Angeles was advanced, but the objection was raised that European nations, because of the transportation bills, would not be able to visit the American city.

Amsterdam was then selected.

The French committee was heard today regarding the plans for the 1924 games. It was stated that plans have been drawn for a stadium to accommodate 60,000 spectators and that the committee hopes to solve its financial difficulties.

The report was approved, inasmuch as there were no objections raised from the meeting.

Sporting Editor's Letter-Box

Sporting Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:
Sir:

Please, if possible, settle a wager as to how many tennis matches have been contested between Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen. A says that Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen have met in a match game only twice, to wit, once in America and the last match which was held July 8, 1922.

B says that they played their first match game in Europe some time last year, in which Mlle. Lenglen defeated Mrs. Mallory. Later, Mlle. Lenglen visited America and was defeated in a match game at Forrest Hill by Mrs. Mallory. The third meeting was at Wimbledon July 8, 1922.

H. N. A.

Unfortunately, Spalding's tennis record for 1921 which is taken as official, is not at hand. Our personal recollection, however, is that A is right, and that Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen have met in but two match games, the first at Forrest Hill last year, and a few days ago at Wimbledon.

MLLE. LENGLEN WINS AGAIN IN MIXED DOUBLES

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 10.—Mr. G. L. Patterson (Australia) beat Mr. Lycett (England) in the final of the World's Lawn Tennis Championship at Wimbledon today 6-4 6-2.

There was a moderate attendance and today was the first day without rain since the opening of the meeting.

Mr. Lycett opened the game with a double fault but afterwards improved with beautiful cross-court drives on to Mr. Patterson's backhand.

In the middle of the second set, however, he fell away and the Australian, serving with his usual power and using the chop-stroke very effectively was easily superior.

In the third round of the Mixed Doubles Mr. O'Hara Wood and Mlle Lenglen beat the Americans, Mr. Mathey and Mrs. Mallory, 6-2 6-4. The winners were generally steadier and the Americans did not combine well.

British Court

The case brought by the Municipal Police against Mr. Judah I. Ezra, for negligent driving following an automobile accident in which Miss Katherine D. Shekury was injured was resumed yesterday before Magistrate G. W. Kins in the British Police Court.

Witnesses for the prosecution occupied the stand throughout the day and the case was not yet concluded when adjournment was taken at night until this morning. Superintendent of Police Vaughan is conducting the prosecution while Major C. P. Holcomb is watching the case on behalf of Miss Shekury. Mr. Ezra is represented by Mr. M. B. Brown.

Miss Shekury was the chief witness to appear yesterday. She described the accident in some detail, saying that she stepped into the ricsha on coming out of a tailor shop on Bubbling Well Road between Yates and Medhurst roads. It was 6:30 p.m., and, while it was quite light, it was raining. When she came out, the ricsha was on the south side of the street, facing west. She told the coolie to go back to town, and he went diagonally across Bubbling Well Road. While crossing the road, the hood of the ricsha was up, and the rain apron was hung on the hooks before her, but she could see over the apron.

When Mr. Ezra's car approached, she had already reached the other side of the street and the ricsha was going in an easterly direction. When she first saw the car, it was a good distance away, in the center of the road. As it approached, it awered toward her ricsha. The front of the car struck the ricsha and she was thrown out against a tree. She was very much shaken and when she got home was obliged to send for a physician.

Mr. Brown in his cross examination of Miss Shekury, indicated the case for the defense.

"I am going to suggest to you that what really happened is this," he said. Mr. Ezra's car was going down on the right side of the road; he saw your ricsha in front of him; he sounded his horn and the rischa coolie took no notice of it. Perhaps he did not hear; perhaps he did. Mr. Ezra, in order to avoid a collision had to go to his right in the center of the road, because there was no room for him to keep to his left. Otherwise he would have hit you.

Mr. Ezra then went to the middle of the road, but directly he altered his course to the middle of the road. Your coolie started to cross the road as hard as he could go. Mr. Ezra turned round as hard as he could to avoid you and the coolie. He only just touched the ricsha, but if he had pulled up one foot quicker the car would not have touched you at all. The ricsha was just pushed over and naturally you were thrown out. That it was just pushed I think follows that the ricsha was slightly damaged.

The Magistrate: How much of this do you want Miss Shekury to answer?

Mr. Brown: I am putting this to her as Mr. Ezra suggests it as the total reason for the accident.

Miss Shekury: I do not agree to it.

Dr. H. Merton, a physician, said he attended Miss Shekury at the General Hospital two days after at the request of Dr. Birt, his partner. As a result of his examination he found her suffering from shock. There might possibly have been an effusion of blood on the hip and elbow.

Miss Shekury was very excited and did not sleep at all in the hospital. She was suffering from headaches.

In his opinion she required a long rest before she could resume her duties. He put her present state down to the effects of the accident. The headache might be due to haemorrage of blood in the brain. There were bruises on the elbow and hip. He attended her eight or ten days in the hospital.

The ricsha coolie testified that when Miss Shekury stepped into the ricsha after leaving the tailor shop, she told him to go East. The ricsha was then facing West. When he turned East he was on the South side of Bubbling Well Road and crossed the street in a straight line. He said the automobile knocked him down near the North pavement of Bubbling Well Road. When he first saw the motor car, it was in the middle of the road coming towards him very fast, he said. The coolie did not hear any horn.

Dr. F. W. E. J. Birt, a medical practitioner in Shanghai for twelve years, said he treated Miss Shekury some years ago. On June 20 last he attended her. He examined her and found her suffering from severe shock with headache and bruises on the elbow specially, and also brusies on the head. Her pulse was slow and there might have been, he thought, a possible concussion of the brain. She complained of severe headiches and was inclined to nauscate. He tried to examine and find whether there was anything broken, but found nothing broken. Her condition was such that he could not decide whether it was serious, until after three days, when he thought he was running a risk if he did not send her to hospital. He put her case in the hands of Dr. Merton, his nerve specialist. Witness saw her after she came back from hospital. She tried to go to work but could not. She was still showing signs of nervousness and headaches. He always considered her a healthy young lady before this accident. Prior to this, she never complained to him of nervousness and sleeplessness. Her state at present was bad, and she would have to take two or three months' rest.

Ku Khox after and Kleagle in black robe

A gathering said to have totalled 30,000 from Chicago and Northern Illinois, met at midnight at 'Delete,' Illinois, to initiate 3,000 Ku Klux Klansmen into the order. The name "Delete" was given by the klan to the scene of the gathering on the bank of the Dupage River, three miles northwest of Springfield. Six hundred motor trucks were used to take the klansmen to the spot. The scene shows the kjan altar and the King Kleagel in the black robe.

WOMEN ATHLETES TRYOUT FOR TRIP TO PARIS GAMES

New York, July 4.—The women's athletic meets for the purpose of testing the eligibility of candidates for the American women's track and field team, which will complete with representatives of European nations at the Pershing Stadium in France on August 20 next, are being held all over the country. The first of these trials was held on May 13 under the anspices of Oakesmere School at Mamaroneck, N. Y., and resulted in one of the best contests in which women ever took part.

Fred W. Rubien, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and president of the Metropolitan Association, is one of the committee in charge of the meets to be held in this city. Mr. Rubien said yesterday that he expects to see one of the most stubborn contests in the history of the game when the women get together.

The American women's track team which will be sent abroad will be entertained in Paris two weeks preceding the meet at the Paris branch of the Oakesmere School. Coaching, medical supervision and chaperonage will be provided. The expense of sending the team will be met through subscriptions, which have already started to come in.

The events which will be contested are 50 and 100-yard dashes; 300-meter run, 100 yards over eight two and a half feet hurdles, 440-yard relay, standing broad jump, running broad jump, running hop, step and jump; baseball, basketball and throwing the javelin.

At the next meeting of the A. A. U. of the United States, the women's branch of the A. A. U. will be organised. Already steps have been taken to have the women athletes compete at the Olympic games in 1924 and the Olympic Committee is confident that a strong representative team can be selected from among the women who are going to compete abroad next August.

OLYMPIC GAMES LIKELY TO GO TO LOS ANGELES

Paris.—Paris virtually gave up hope of staging the 1924 Olympic games when a committee of the Chamber of Finance rejected the requested credits of twenty million francs to stage the games.

The committee announced after meeting that fifteen million francs were all the nation could afford to spend in promoting the games.

The only hope remaining is that the fund can be raised by private subscriptions, but this is offset by the feeling that the International Olympic Committee may take the games away from Paris and award them to Los Angeles, the only other candidate in the field.

The committee has already expressed unofficially its dissatisfaction with the delay in getting the games under way and it is said to have the opinion that regardless of the amount of money raised, France will not be able to make the necessary arrangements in time for the games.

Changed Political Situation Cause Of Japan's Decision

(Delta News Agency)

Tokio, July 5.—A high officer of the War Office in an interview states that the Japanese Government has decided to withdraw its troops in consequence of the changed political situation in Russia and the moderateness of Siberian Bolsheviks. The War Office has begun the necessary preparations for withdrawal which commences on September 1. The brigade distributed between Harbin and Pogranichnaya shall be withdrawn in the beginning of August. Russian arms which are under Japanese control shall be delivered to the Government of the Far Eastern Republic or to self-defense detachments in case such will be organised. Very possible, these arms will be sunk.

The officer further states that if a new conference will not bring about an agreement guaranteeing the security of Japanese residents and political peace in Siberia, the Korean border will be guarded by Japanese forces and police distributed in South Manchuria and Korea.

General Liu Hsiang in order to defend himself has ordered an attack on Hochow by the garrison of Fowchow. It is also reported that General Hsiu Ching-yang is advancing from Hupeh on Wanhsien with 3,000 irregulars, who are reported to have engaged a body of General Liu Hsiang's troops in a fight, the result of which is not yet known. General Hsiung Keh-wu is apparently delying action until he learns the issue of this engagement.

"Homespun Folks"
An All Star Cast with Lloyd Hughes
A MOTHER STORY THAT HITS THE GREATEST TARGET IN ALL THE WORLD—THE HUMAN HEART.
A real native American story with a real sweet, wonderful mother in it. There's a typical American farm, a stern, hard old father—tears and pathos—a delightful love story—action and excitement—big scenes. You'll go away with a memory of the old home town burned into your memory.
"Homespun Folks"
is not a cocktail drama. It has romance and tenderness; it has pathos and robust comedy; it has tenseness and the rush of melodramatic action—but it never loses that deft, magnetic, masterful something that makes it a pastoral epic.

There are battles with Indians, a struggle with gamblers a revenge motive, and love and adventure galore. Withal it is an accurate historical record of a period of American life that is romantic to the last degree—that period when men and women of every walk of life trekked to the sunset across the wild lands, peopled by hostile Indians herds of buffalo and threatened with every possible danger.
Mountain and plain and his horses, and long wagon trains crawling over the trail Such had been his life until one day they brought his brother home—murdered!
After that he was Hamilton the Avenger. But when at last he found his man, he found the brother of a woman he loved.
Then a strange ordeal of the desert and a roving Indian band, seeking—and taking—an eye for an eye.
The end of the trail? You would never guess. Find it with William S. Hart in this powerful romance of human souls.

That's what Dick told his parents when they came to beg him to give up this wild circus life and come back to his own world of wealth, aristocracy, good breeding and leisure. Certainly no circus performer would do for a daughter-in-law!
Poor little Pat! She was used to hurdles but she never had known that there were such things in the world as social barriers.
In the circus everybody was friends with everybody else, and nothing mattered but putting your act over. Could she ever win the approval of these cold, hostile people of Dick's?

Hawaii May Have "Natural" Steam As Motive Power

(China Press Service)

Honolulu, July 10. — Boring with a giant churn drill into the Kilauea on the island of Hawaii was begun a few days ago.

The purpose is to attempt to pipe and utilise either the steam or gas of the volcano for industrial purposes, expecially for furnishing power for the island's many sugar mills.

Steam heated to 90 degrees centigrade was struck ten feet down. Further drilling is proceeding in order to try to tap steam under enough pressure to make it commercially useful.

If volcanic force can be used for industrial purposes, Hawaii will come close to having free power and a near approach will have Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅜d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 70¼ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 444⅛.

The official Sterling rates here today were unchanged from yesterday and the market was quiet and steady throughout the day.

In the morning business in Sterling was done at rates varying between 3s. 6½d. and 3s. 6⅝d. and in Gold Dollars between 78¼ and 78⅝. In the afternoon the official Sterling rate was raised to 3s. 6¼d., the Gold Dollar rate to 78¾ and the other rates changed accordingly.

However, in spite of this rise in rates our market here was easier than in the morning and in fact closed on the easy side with no sellers of Sterling at better than 3s. 6⅛d. and of Gold Dollars at 78 for July-August-September deliveries.

There was a much better demand for Franc bills today, New York advising a substantial improvement in the Franc quotations there. There were, however, few bills offering but there were buyers of four months bills at 1020.

China sold silver in London yesterday and India bought.

There was nothing doing in the New York market yesterday.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Australians See Future For Cotton

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, July 10.—Australians are just beginning to realise the enormous possibilities of cotton production in Australia, Lord Forster, the Governor-General, said in the course of a speech here today that Britain spent £200,000,000 a year on raw cotton and he saw no reason why a large proportion of it should not be spent in Australia. Australia imported £10,000,000 worth of cotton goods and he saw no reason why Australia should not manufacture all the cotton goods she wanted and export extensively to the East. Experiments in Queensland had shown that cotton could be grown in every State of the Commonwealth. The quality of Australian cotton was 25 to 50 percent better than American and the yield per acre in Queensland considerably exceeded the American yield.

Navy Servants At Peking On Strike

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 8.—The servants of the Ministry of the Navy went on a strike yesterday. Even though they had not been paid for three months they were patient until they heard that $80,000 was to be used for redecorating the building.

That was too much for them and they struck. Their three months' pay amounts only to $10,000.

"Why not let us decorate our insides with a square meal or two," was the servants plaint that won one month's pay as a concession. They went back to work.

Chang's Seizure Of Cars Illegal, Claim

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 6.—The merchants of Tientsin and Peking are clamoring for some action from the Ministry of Communications to relieve the shortage of cars on the Peking-Mukden Railway. They say conditions were bad enough while the war was going on and merchants lost trade because they could not travel, but after time has been given to return the rolling stock, they feel that relief should be given.

They point out that not only the Peking-Mukden has suffered, but the shortage on that line has caused it to take cars from the Peking-Suiyuan, Peking-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow lines. Thus the difficulty is spread over a large section of the country. They ask that the government make General Chang Tso-lin hand back this material as it is so badly needed and really is not worth much in the way of a souvenir of his expedition.

Australia's Coming Election

Toward the end of this year the mandate of the present Australian Parliament will come to an end and a new election will be in order. Premier Hughes, whose career resembles that of his fellow Welshman, David Lloyd George, in so many ways, both spectacular and statesman-wise, will be hard put to it, it seems likely, to retain the great power he won during the war. Like Lloyd George, Mr. Hughes began his career as an extreme radical. For years he was the representative in Parliament and the unchallenged leader in the economic field of the most aggressive and powerfull of Australia's trade unions, the dockers. Like Lloyd George, he was a lawyer, and, in 1914, the year in which the Australian Labor Party reached the high-water mark of its power in the Commonwealth, with a majority of 32 to 5 in the Senate and 40 to 35 in the House of Representatives, he was Attorney-General of the Labor Government. When Andrew Fisher became Australian Commissioner in London, in 1915, Mr. Hughes succeeded him as Premier, and for almost seven years he has been all but dictator in democratic Australia.

Early in 1916, in the course of a visit to London, Mr. Hughes astounded his party by announcing his conversion to a policy of militant nationalism. Such was his personal strength that he won over enough members of the lower house to establish his new policy, and, in 1917, he broke the power of the anti-war Laborites in the Senate by triumphantly winning the election of that year for a nationalist coalition. His dearest hope, however, that Australia would accept conscription, was defeated in one of the closest elections ever held in a democratic country, the anti-conscriptionists winning by the narrow margin of 1,145,198 to 1,034,918, in spite of the fact that every state Labor government, save that of Queensland, and every other important interest of the Australian Nation espoused his cause.

The extreme bitterness over this and similar issues led to the Premier's expulsion from the Labor Party and to the gravitation of himself and his followers toward a central policy which relies more and more on the support of his former political adversaries, the Liberals. The breach was yet more definitely widened at the Peace Conference, where Mr. Hughes assumed the leadership of the "Make Germany Pay" Party which succeeded in imposing Britain's pension bill on the Versailles Treaty, a position which is, of course, very much modified now, but which amply decorated the British political stage for the "khaki election" of 1918.

All these moves, as in Lloyd George's case, strengthened Mr. Hughes with the moderates, but built up a party whose authority has been diminishing as the war issues which created its solidarity have been receding further and further from the scene. The inevitable break with his moderate followers now appears to have come, and they cherish great hopes at the coming election under the leadership of the sagacious, though sometimes indiscreet William A. Watt, who acted as Premier while Mr. Hughes was carrying out his stormy mission to Europe, of returning to power under the banner of the pre-war Liberal organisation. Economy is, as usual, one of the ever-present issue, but the continuance of the "White Australia" theory, which Mr. Hughes favors but which the Liberals are inclined to modify, at least as regards the totally undeveloped tropical area of the Northern Territory will likewise be a keen election cry. A good part of the election will be fought on the personal question, and here Mr. Hughes has the many precedents against him of war heroes in statecraft who have been resoundingly rejected by their own people after their service was done.

The Premier is in the quandary of occupying a diminishing middle ground between two increasingly hostile wings. Labor on the one hand is implacable, and the Liberals are a little bored. At present there seems to be no issue sufficiently compelling for Mr. Hughes to ride through triumphantly once again. The great spell he has cast on the Australian imagination, his undaunted courage and adroit political resource, are, of course, factors which should not be too easily discounted. Moreover, Australia is still beside the rest of the world, a model Government, and Mr. Hughes has sturdily maintained its good name abroad and at home. Electoral campaigns in Australia, with its small population and its relatively high political intelligence, are far ahead of the standards both of England and America. The personal manœuvers and the developing issues of the forthcoming Commonwealth election will be well worth the world's attention.

The Immorals Of A Ball Of Twine

BY W. G. JORDAN

They are having a "Thrift Campaign" in Cincinnati. One of the exhibits to the entered with a moral, is a ball of twine made up by a clerk from pieces of "string" thrown away by his associates in two months. It weighs over 100 pounds, is five feet in diameter, and if straightened out would reach ten miles.

There is a moral to this which all should heed, but it is not the one intended by the "campaign."

Picture young "Mr. Thrift" giving half attention to his work and lodging under a bench to retrieve seven inches of string dropped by a fellow clerk, repeating this several times a day, stacking it somewhere to take home at night.

Then in his room, filled with the unholy glow of self-righteousness, carefully untying it, taking out all the knots, laying each piece aside, measuring it carefully in inches, entering the lengths in his notebook, repeating the process with other pieces, totalling with glee the harvest of his night's salvage, setting it down, with the date.

Then he joins all the separate pieces by the tiniest of knots, attaches the new redeemed cordal outcasts to the parent ball.

It is now 10:30 p.m. Mr. Thrift, Jr., is tired; he is at the end of his string; he has reduced the number of inches of his evening dissipation to feet by dividing by twelve, according to a method well known to mathematics.

He finds his night raid has netted 204 feet 3¼ inches, adds it to the last statistics brought up to date, goes over his figures and checks them up to see that he has not made an error, for a Puritan brand of conscientiousness always accompanies this variety of thriftiness.

He then retires, weary, to his couch, with glow of conscious superiority to his sinful, string-squandering associates at the store.

He himself has been guilty of a chronic, continuous criminal waste. He has been exchanging golden hours of his living, with all their infinite possibilities of good to himself and to others, to collecting pieces of string!

He has paid an enormous price for his museum exhibit of his wastefulness. He has been throwing gold, wasting it, in order to save from waste some scrap iron.

In certain large factories, if a workman drop a nail on the floor, he is forbidden to pick it up, for it has been proved that the time expended in so doing is worth many times that of the value of the nail. The real thrift is in letting the nail rest where it fell, the "waste" is in picking it up.

The waste of Mr. Thrift, Jr., is typical of the lives of countless thousands. They waste their one most precious possession—time. Life itself is but the individual trusteeship of time.

The only thing that really counts is time. All the rest of living is but the exercise of our individual choice of how we save it, how we spend it.

We have only twenty-four hours a day. The supply of hours is absolutely fixed, limited, restricted finally. The supply of string is infinite, we can always get more, always make more. The greatest waste is the waste of time! This is the web and woof, the material, the essence, the very soul of life. If we waste this, we waste all.

"Human Glowworms" Now

Scientists, Seeking Cold Light, Find Some Persons Faintly Luminous

"Human glowworms" are found now and then, according to giologists engaged in the search for "cold light" from animal sources. These animal sources may be the chief commercial light of the future, as Charles P. Steinmetz sees it.

Occasionally, the face of a human being shines faintly in the dark, somewhat like the dial of a radium watch. Such examples, in the opinion of Dr. E. Newton Harvey of Princeton, who recently developed a method of producing "continuous cold light" from animal sources, probably are due to bacteria.

"A few cases of luminous individuals have been noted," he wrote in his book, "The Nature of Animal Light." "In such the skin was the source of light, especially in persons who sweated freely. It is possible that here we are again dealing with luminous bacteria upon the accumulation of substances passed out in the sweat, which serves as a nutrient medium."

In the opinion of some students of the subject, the light given off by certain insects and vegetation in the darkness is not caused by any lighting system of their own, but to a bacterial infection. Even the glowworm, according to a German study just issued by Professor P. Buchner, does not furnish his own illuminant, but merely provides in his body a suitable home for billions of light-producing bacteria. The complex illuminating equipment found in many fish and crustaceans is held by Buchner to be merely elaborate schemes for furnishing nutriment for the bacteria to live upon, and oxygen, by which the light is produced. This view, in its extreme form, is combated by Dr. Harvey, who believes it has been proved that several organisms produce their own light without the help of invading bacterial swarms. According to the Buchner theory, the bacterial infection handed down from the parent glowworm to its offspring for millions of generations has brought about an elaborate adjustment of relations. Mutual relations of this kind between bacteria and more elaborate organisms, between two sets of organisms, between animals and vegetables, are frequent and form a huge department of biology under the heading of symbiosis.

The study has yielded a long catalogue of animals and vegetables which produce their own "cold light." The study also has caused some unlearning. To the layman one of the most familiar objects which shine in the dark by their own light is the eyes of cats and other animals. This is not the case at all, according to Dr. Harvey. The cat has no internal source of light, but his eye is a wonderful reflector and will gleam when it is almost dark. When it is totally dark the eye of a cat is dead. A few living things, less familiar than cats, however, have a lighting apparatus of their own.

MANY THINGS GLOW IN DARK

Some of the things which will glow in the dark, whether by their own light or by light borrowed from bacteria, are, according to Dr. Harvey's catalogue, certain lichens, algae, fungi, yeasts, molds, smuts, mushrooms, puffballs, mosses, liverworts, ferns, flowering plants, sponges, jellyfish, sea anemones, many tribes of worms, starfish, periwinkles, slugs, squids, frogs, toads, salamanders, snakes, lizards, turtles, many deep-sea animals and various kinds of eggs. Some members of all those families are self-luminous.

Deep-sea animals are believed to have their lamps, just as automobiles have, to show them where they are going. Blue, green, pink and even red lights have been reported. There seems to be no systematic distribution of light among insects, reptiles, animals and vegetables, according to Dr. Harvey. As to the biological cause of their luminescence, he says that the guess of the layman is about as good as that of the scientist, and offers four suggestions as to the purpose of the light:

"It may be of no use whatever, or a warning or a mating call. Finally, it is possible that animals with complex, luminous organs, such as the squid and shrimp, actually use these as lanterns. It is significant that most of them are deep-sea forms, living in a region of perpetual darkness, and it is perfectly logical to suppose that they may use their lamps for illumination purposes."

Dr. Harvey searched for many years for sources of animal light in which the light-producing substance was sufficiently concentrated for experimental purposes. He found by far the best agent in the cypridina, a minute shellfish, which are thick in the sea around Japan and are supplied to him by a Japanese fisherman. Before this the greatest light source ever discovered in living things was a great disappointment, a kind of natural nature fake. This was a big frog whose stomach was shining like a lighthouse in a fog. This looked to be a magnificent discovery, but dissection disclosed the fact that it was merely an ordinary frog which had dined gluttonously on fire-flies.

There seems to be only one practical commercial use for luminous bacteria at present and that is in detecting fine cracks in filters. When liquor highly colonised with luminous bacteria is placed in the filter and the filter is carried into a dark room, a glowing will mark the place of the leak.

MIGHT LIGHT HOMES

Dr. Harvey has produced a light from the cypridina by which it is possible to read a newspaper at three or four feet in an otherwise dark room. If this is further developed, as expected, the next step will be a light strong enough to be of value in such use as the handling of explosives or for the illumination of atmospheres in an explosive state from dust or gas. In twenty years, according to Dr. Steinmetz, it is possible that every home will be lighted in this way. The cypridina exists in enormous quantities in the ocean and might be collected in numbers sufficient to illuminate the world, it is said. At the same time, Dr. Harvey and others are seeking to build up artificially the substances which produce light. Some day it may be manufactured on a large scale. Once the secret of nature is discovered, an attempt will be made to produce a far more intense light. The value of a light of this kind would be its economy. The substance which produces the light, a minute shrimplike creature, would be cheap enough. Fresh coal has to be burned continuously to produce electricity for electric light, but the natural lighting substance could be used and over again. The process by which it can be used in this way is the thing discovered by Dr. Harvey. The nature of the lighting substance itself has been studied for many years. The natural chemical process of "temporary, cold light" production involves three factors. Dr. Harvey added a fourth factor which produces "continuous cold light."

The lighting substance itself is a protein called luciferin. It combines with oxygen to cause light. The third natural factor is called the luciferase and is an albumen combined with some heavy metals such as iron, copper or magnesium, as it has been worked out by Dr. Harvey and Dr. A. H. Phillips of Princeton.

The function of the luciferase is to assist the union of luciferin and oxygen, making them combine rapidly enough to produce light in the process. The fourth factor discovered by Dr. Harvey is a metallic agent which disunites the oxygen and luciferin as fast as the luciferase causes them to unite.

The luciferase might be compared to the wick which assists a candle to burn. The tallow would play the part of the luciferin. Oxygen would play the same part in the burning of a candle as in producing cold light. The fourth factor discovered by Dr. Harvey is absent from the candle. Its effect, if a similar discovery could be applied to the candle, would be to repair the wick and build up the candle almost as fast as it burned.

The fourth factor enables the light-producing chemical combinations to be repeated over and over again, but not perpetually, as the process would eventually slow down. Recharging of a luciferin lamp, however, would only be necessary at long intervals.

Up Goes The British Pound

(N. Y. Herald, June 6)

British exchange yesterday crossed $4.50. This means that it took $4.50 of our money to buy an English pound or, as it is technically known, a pound sterling, while on Saturday $4.48 would buy the pound, and a week ago yesterday about $4.45 would buy it.

On the settlements of hundreds of millions of dollars that are made annually between the United States and Great Britain a difference of five cents to the pound runs up into millions of dollars against the Britons. But this is as nothing compared with the not very remote period when the so-called pound sterling was at more than a 20 percent discount in American money. Then there was a difference of a dollar to the pound.

But, as The New York Herald months ago suggested was surely coming to pass, there has been a steady enhancement in the value of the English pound as expressed in American money. The pound sterling, in fact, is on the way to par—$4.86⅔.

The only secret about getting a nation's foreign exchange back to par when it has been heavily depreciated is for that nation to become able again to pay all its bills abroad and then to pay them. That was the answer after the war to the alarmists who thought all European currencies would have to be cut permanently to a new foreign exchange basis. It is the answer now to other countries that still have to travel the road, as Great Britain is traveling it, of holding their outgo within their income at home and paying up abroad.

Lih Teh Oil Mill Company, Ltd.

The twelfth annual general meeting of the Lih Teh Oil Mill Company, Ltd., was held yesterday at the offices, 2 Canton Road of the company's agents, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons. The chairman said:

"Gentlemen.—The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will, with your permission take them as read.

"Our financial year started with good prospects.

"During June-August, seeds were plentiful and the price very reasonable and good profits were made.

"In September the supply of cotton seeds fell off and the quality was poor.

"The new season seed market was opened by a Chinese oil mill at an advance in price of over 60 percent, thus establishing a market price which made crushing unprofitable—this concern bought heavily at high prices and later on in the season became bankrupt.

"The season started as explained above, with very dear seeds and throughout the season seeds have been very scarce and the quality has been consistently bad and thus instead of operating our mill throughout the whole year, we have only been able to run for 145 days.

"There was a good demand for both our cake and oil throughout the season which we could not supply owing to the shortage of seeds and since this company was started in 1910 we have never experienced such a shortage of seeds of sound quality.

"Other oil seeds were held by Chinese merchants at high prices above their crushing value and thus we were unable to turn the mill from cotton seeds to the profitable crushing of other seeds.

"The machinery has been kept in good order and has worked satisfactorily and the sum of Tls. 12,398.20 has been spent on repairs and renewals and charged to working account.

"The accounts do not call for any special comment. The mortgage loan against residence Rue Henri Reviere has since been paid off and the stock of Tls. 94,109.86 represents chiefly goods which have been sold and cleared since.

"The profit for the year is Tls. 4,564.20 which it is proposed to deduct from the debit balance of Tls. 24,763.43 which was carried forward from last year, thus carrying forward a debit to profit and loss account of Tls. 20,199.23.

"Before putting the resolutions to the meeting, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability any questions shareholders may wish to ask."

The following resolutions were submitted:

"That the report and accounts for the year ended May 31, 1922, together with the recommendation as to appropriation of balance at debit of profit and loss account as presented be accepted."

"That Mr. L. Straetmans be re-elected a director of the Company."

"That Messrs. C. H. and N. Thomson be re-elected auditors to the company."

Shanghai Life Insurance Co., Ltd.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Shanghai Life Insurance Company, Ltd., was held at the head office of the company, 10 Canton Road yesterday afternoon. Mr. A. W. Burkill presided. He said:

"The accounts have been in your hands for some time, and I propose, with your sanction, to take them as read.

It is unnecessary that I should trouble you with a long speech. Under the arrangement with the China Mutual Life Insurance Company, we have been able to effect considerable economies and have had a very successful year. The surplus at the valuation date, excluding Roubles, taking exchange at Tls. 1=3s. 4d. was £39,936.544. The value of the Pure Endowments set up prior to Dec. 31, 1921, is £27,246.191, and the amount therefore available for distribution is £72,690.353, which will be dealt with in a resolution which I shall put before you later on.

"A list of the company's investments is on the table for inspection."

The directors' report, signed by Mr. Burkill as chairman, and Messrs. E. T. Byrne and R. G. Macdonald, directors, and S. B. Neill and J. K. Tweed, managers, read:

"The directors have the pleasure to present their report for the year ending December 31, 1921. Applications considered during the year amounted to Taels 82,000 and £18,295. Policies were issued for Taels 82,000 and £12,928. The remainder were postponed or not proceeded with or in course of consideration as at December 31, 1921.

"The total insurance in force on December 31, 1921, amounted to Taels 3,679,125, £2,358,362 and Roubles 25,000, of which policies to the amount of £26,698 were reinsured. The income for the year amounted to Taels 389,357.15, £232,594.318 and Roubles 294.40. The total assets now amount to Taels 1,918,401.61, £894,762.270 and Roubles 262,624.82

"The total amount paid to policy-holders and beneficiaries during the year amounted to Taels 385,580.06, £119,392.750 and Roubles 1,608.60. The accounts have been audited by your auditors, Messrs. Mortimer, Reid and Slee, who have given their certificate. They retire, but being eligible, offer themselves for re-election."

Resolutions were proposed and adopted as follows:

"Proposed by Mr. A. W. Burkill.

"Seconded by Mr. R. G. Macdonald.

"That the Directors' Report together with the Accounts and Balance Sheet for the year ended December 31, 1921 be and they are hereby accepted and passed."

"Proposed by Mr. A. W. Burkill.

"Seconded by Mr. R. G. Macdonald.

"That the Net Surplus be dealt with as follows:

"Reversionary additions to Policies with Bonus periods ending subsequent to July 1, 1922 ..... 35,814.328

"To provide additional Bonus on policies maturing between Jan. 1, 1923 and June 30, 1923 ..... 560.943

"To provide Shareholders' Dividend, being 20% of the above, to be carried to Shareholders' Reserve Fund 7,395.301

"To Investment Reserve Fund 2,919.178

"Carried forward unappropriated 25,399.067

£72,690.353

"Proposed by Mr. A. J. Welsh.

Shanghai Typist Passes Stiff Test

Mr. M. Savetzky, a pupil of the Remington Typewriter School, No. 3, Kiukiang Road, passed the Remington Typewriter Company's Accuracy Test on Monday, July 10 in the presence of Mr. R. D. Simpson and Mr. H. Farmer, the principal of the school

The test which was passed under the rules laid down by the Remington Typewriter Company, involves typing for fifteen minutes at a speed of not less than 60 words a minute from unfamiliar matter, absolutely without error. The very high standard of efficiency in touch typewriting required to pass the test will be better realised when it is stated that the competition (for which a brand new Remington typewriter is awarded as a prize) has been open for some years in the United States and up to date only about forty typists have succeeded in passing.

Mr. Savetzky used a Remington No. 10 Business Model machine and typed 1,037 words during the fifteen minutes, that is at the rate of over 69 words a minute. It is interesting to note that he has only been studying at the Remington Typewriter School for a little under twelve months prior to which time he had no knowledge whatever of typing or typewriting machines.

Sir Francis Aglen To Represent China On Shantung Body

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 6.—The Sub-Commission of the Sino-Japanese Shantung Negotiations, which has to deal with public properties, held its third meeting at the Foreign Office this morning. The outstanding feature of the meeting was the selection of a committee to handle Tsingtao Maritime Customs question.

The three persons selected to represent China on this committee were Sir Francis Aglen, Inspector General of the Chinese Customs; Mr. Chen Lan, Chief Secretary of the Customs, and General Liang Shang-tung, Counsellor to the main Commission.

On behalf of Japan, Mr. Yoshida, Counsellor of the Legation, Mr. Kinmimori, and Mr. Yano, both attached to the Japanese Legation, will act. This committee will arrange a date of meeting and after they have reached definite conclusions, will submit their recommendation to the second section of the Commission.

Hupeh Opposed To New Civil Governor

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 8.—It was only after a hot debate that the Cabinet decided on the appointment of Tang Hsiang-ming to the Civil Governorship of Hupeh. President Li Yuan-hung has received a telegram from the "people's association" of that province protesting bitterly against this appointment. This telegram says:

"The report of the mandate appointing Tang Hsiang-ming Governor of Hupeh makes us afraid. Since you left this province, the people have suffered from wars and famines for ten years. Your assumption of the Presidency has given great hopes to our people. However, with this mandate our hopes have dropped.

"Because of his crimes we dare not have Tang as our Civil Governor. We wish to make public these crimes of his:

"He has become depraved so that he is not a fit leader.

"He has a cruel nature which will cause pain to the people.

"He ruined the financial system which is proven by his system of selling offices.

"He recommended unfit men of his own kind for office.

"A man capable of these misdeeds should not be made Governor. Therefore, the people of all Hupeh petition their President to select another man of high moral character for this position."

Officer Breaks Up Mutiny At Paotingfu

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 8.—Two days ago part of the troops of the Twenty-third Division mutinied at Paoting and were only put down after considerable firing and looting. It appears that these soldiers were incited by leaders telling them of the failure of the authorities to produce their back pay. They were located in the East suburb of Paoting and after looting the shops there, moved over to the West suburb.

Serious trouble there was averted by the presence of mind of one of the company commanders, who seeing the riotious soldiers approaching the West suburb, had his buglers sound the call to arms and later the attack. Fearing a superior force was to attack them, they began to scatter and became quiet.

This commander is said to have had only ninety men with him at the time but his trick saved the west suburb. General Tsao is reported to have given this company a prize of $1,000 for its action.

Fukien Tuchun Not For Disbandment

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 5.—There have been many polite excuses made by Tuchuns who are not keen on giving up their positions under the President's scheme of abolition, but the Tuchun of Fukien, General Li Ho-chi hides behind nothing like that. He has sent a telegram to the Peking government which reads as follows:

"After deliberating on your plan of disbandment, I have decided that such action can only be carried out after the soldiers have been paid the money due them.

"The Central Government owes Fukien several millions of dollars for military expenses. If they really want disbandment, they should pay this debt first."

With such terms as these offered to it, the Peking Government is in little doubt as to where General Li stands in the matter, and his telegram has gone unanswered.
